

ARCHIBALD CARY COOLIDGE
Editor

HAMILTON FISH ARMSTRONG
Managing Editor

Published by the
COUNCIL ON FOREIGN RELATIONS

ELIHU ROOT
Honorary Chairman

JOHN W. DAVIS
Chairman

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

AN AMERICAN QUARTERLY REVIEW

25 WEST FORTY-THIRD STREET
NEW YORK

Editorial Advisory Board
GEN. TASKER H. BLISS
GEORGE H. BLAKESLEE
ISAIAH BOWMAN
JOHN W. DAVIS
STEPHEN P. DUGGAN
HARRY A. GARFIELD
EDWIN F. GAY
ALEXANDER LEGGE
GEORGE W. WICKERSHAM

April 18, 1924.

Rev. Stewart M. Robinson,
The Manse,
Lockport, New York.

Dear Rev. Robinson

Prof. P. M. Brown, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, informs us that you are greatly interested in international questions and suggests that we send you a copy of FOREIGN AFFAIRS, the quarterly review established by the Council for the purpose of providing a medium in which the world's most competent statesmen, economists and financiers might lay their views before the American public.

I am very glad to follow Prof. Brown's suggestion, as I think FOREIGN AFFAIRS speaks for itself better than any description I can give of it. A copy of one of our recent issues goes to you today with my compliments.

You will note that in addition to its interesting leading articles (some recent titles are listed on the back of the enclosed order blank) FOREIGN AFFAIRS has several special features, - notes on recent political and geographical changes, frequent maps, a list of important books in the international field and a source material section noting new treaties and trade agreements.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS is not partisan. It is not organized for profit. Its sponsors hope, however, that its independent qualities will soon lead to its becoming self-supporting. It is with this in view that we are making every effort at the present moment to increase our circulation. I am confident that you would find FOREIGN AFFAIRS extremely interesting and useful. And at the same time you would, by subscribing for it, help us in putting on a permanent basis a publication that fills a most urgent educational need.

I am glad to offer you the special rate of $4.50 for an introductory year's subscription (regular price $5). An order blank is enclosed. Hoping to gain your support, believe me,

Yours very truly,

Hamilton Fish Armstrong
Managing Editor

